

Concepts and Contracts

- Concepts describe relationships between operations on a type
- Contracts describe relationships between values
- The distinction is not always clear
 - i.e. The comparison operation passed to `std::sort` must implement a strict weak ordering relation over the values being sorted